
Production, Expenditure and Income Approach

1. Explain the 3 different approaches for the calculation of GDP and give the relative size (name the respective reference magnitude) of the main subcomponents of these approaches for the german economy.